Fifteen million dollars is the goal for the Third War Loan which President Roosevelt has proclaimed will be launched September 9. U.S.O. EXPANDS OUT OF U. S. A.

The largest expansion in the history of the USO overseas division took place during the past quarter, it was announced today by Edward J. Kelly, director of the local USO. Mr. Kelly was notified by William E. Leigh, director of the USO overseas services, that new clubs, recreation centers and mobile service clubs had been opened during April, May and June in every area in which USO has been designated by the War Department to provide recreation facilities for men in uniform. These areas include Alaska, Newfoundland and the Caribbean, Central and South America and Hawaii. They do not include ports outside the Western Hemisphere. The quarter saw the formal opening of the eleven new clubs in Brazil. New operations in the Caribbean include one new club, with mobile service attached in Trinidad, two in Puerto Rico and two in the Republic of Panama. Two new mobile USO clubs were added in the Panama area. New Marine units, mobile USO clubs on boats are being planned for the Atlantic and Pacific Island groups nearest the Canal. Four new clubs, additional area service offices and a golf course were opened in the Hawaiian Islands.

A new USO club was also established in Dutch Guiana. Three new operations were recently opened in Cuba. These include a new club in Havana and an information center on the Prada.

Recent trips through the Caribbean and to South America by Mr. Leigh and Dr. Royal Burpee, program director of the overseas division, made possible most of the additions to the regular USO overseas service.

Properties were inspected, conferences held with local officials and leases negotiated on the spot so that the service could be opened as quickly as possible.

Army and Navy commanding officers made recommendations where service was needed, Mr. Leigh said.

Don't Let Motors Run Idle

Excellent Way to waste Gasoline

From the Office of War Information comes the following for gas users in this area where we are feeling the acute shortage of gasoline.

Bus and truck drivers in the Northeastern gasoline shortage area which includes Virginia, have been urged by the Office of Defense Transportation not to waste fuel by letting their motors idle unnecessarily.

If bus and truck drivers are able to save only one gallon out of every 1,000 used along the Atlantic seaboard, the amount saved in a six-day work-week would be equivalent to the amount required to be saved.

Fuel 15 Liberator bombers during three trips from a British base to Berlin and back.

Keep a mechanized division for five hours;

Keep 50 fighter planes in the air 17 hours.

MORE TAXES TO BE PAID

The House Ways and Means Committee dug down deep into income tax exemptions of married couples and single persons without dependents. They now pay more taxes. Heavy taxpayers also pay more. Figure it out the old way: Taxes have been raised for everybody—richman, poorman, beggarman, thief, doctor, lawyer, editor, chief—and you and me.

Ready to Fly for Victory

These Aviation Cadets walking toward the flying line and the training planes with which they'll learn to fly, will soon become part of the Army Air Forces swiftly growing air might. Young men of 18 to 26, inclusive, may now volunteer for induction for training as Aviation Cadets in the Nation's Air Forces. First step is to visit an Aviation Cadet Examining Board at the post office or Federal building of important cities, or at Air Forces stations.

Governor Darden to Present "Silver Wings" Enlisted Reserve Insignia

Lt. Col. Leland W. Skaggs to Administer Oaths to Recruits

Richmond—Virginia boys who have volunteered for aviation cadet training will be honored in an Air Show to be given in Richmond on the afternoon of August 15th at the Hermitage Air Port. The ceremonies will begin at 3 P. M. and will include a flying demonstration by Captain Carroll L. Stanton, Army Air Corps. "We shall illustrate during the program the various types of spins, loops, and dives used by pilots in actual combat," he said, "and the explanation of these maneuvers will be given by broadcast to both the visual and radio audiences from the plane."

The Air Show is sponsored by the Army Recruiting Service in cooperation with the Civil Air Patrol, which organization is represented by Major Allan C. Perkins to the recruits immediately after which Governor Colgate W. Darden, Jr., will present each boy with his "silver wings." This lapel insignia is indicative of membership in the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve and will be worn by the seventeen year old until they are called to active duty.

Colonel Edward E. Hildreth, Commanding Officer of the Richmond Army Air Base and Colonel Nelson P. Jackson, Commanding Officer of the 327th Fighter Squadron, will also appear on the program.

Unusual flying equipment, which has not been shown to the public before, will be on display.

Each recruit will be given a free plane ride during the afternoon's celebration and those who volunteer for the specialized training will also receive free plane rides.

The Air Show is sponsored by the Army Recruiting Service in cooperation with the Civil Air

Patrol, which organization is represented by Major Allan C. Perkins son and Captain John Currie. Several young men of this vicinity are expected to take part in the ceremony.

The week of August 16th has been designated as Aviation Cadet Recruiting week in an official proclamation by Governor Darden.

The Service Corps includes block leaders, salvage committees, and all other Civilian Defense units except those in the protective services, such as Air Raid Wardens, Fire Guards, Auxiliary Police and Firemen, etc.

Service Corps members have been requested to fill out and return cards bearing the oath of allegiance. Upon return of the cards they will be sent identifying badges.

THE VOICE OF A MAJORITY,
swaying the course of government does not insure good government except it be the voice of a well-informed and well-intentioned people."

THE EXTENT OF THE "DURATION"

By J. E. Jones

Everyone laughed at the thin old man on a street car platform in Washington who loudly insisted that "the duration is going to last longer than the war." May be the fellow was right! At least the home life of our country is upset, the ways of eating shift day by day from beefsteak to famine; the Republicans are organizing, planning and plotting for the post-war; Newdealism is fading into the mists and its old enthusiasts are returning to the Democratic party; gas and food rationing "ain't right" according to 9 out of 10 discussions in which everyone has a little vengeance all his-and-her own. After all why not accept the prophecy that the duration will actually last longer than the war?

After the war the victorious Governments will have to establish an organization to guide and police the world, feed the hungry and start the wheels revolving again. After the war millions of men, women, boys and girls will have to lay aside their uniforms and establish themselves in a way to earn a living. The Constitution will still be found in operation, but the Federal Government has taken over most of the authority of the States—which is another matter!

Two hundred chief manufacturing industries, 184,230 large and small manufacturers, 12,000,000 union workmen, and at least half the entire population of the United States will be busy with the problems of readjustment during the duration. When Harding was President he invented a slogan, "back to normality!" It was an expressive term. After the war the whole industrial system—most of which has been in disuse—must be restored. Millions of incomes will have to be cultivated, or established, millions of unforeseen problems must be faced.

Let everybody chip in with an idea about the post-war resurrection. Everyone was brushed aside by the big wise men who lost the peace after World War I. The more free speech, the more suggestions and plans the better. Out of the mess of things it is still reasonable to expect that we will get "back to normality"—but it will be a long, hard battle in which the duration may extend far, far beyond the close of the war.

FARMERS KEEP

History books will carry the story of the splendid way our Farmers have met the need for food in this war. Handicapped in many areas by shortage of labor and machinery, they have rolled throughout the land and beyond the close of the war.

Farm machinery swapping is one of the hidden weapons we are using against the enemy. It is the historical American strategy of "Let's get together and lick 'em this time." It's an old-time idea that's helping to win a modern war.

Farmers are striving to keep their machinery in top shape, because it has to do double-duty for the duration. This means careful oiling, quick repairs. They are keeping the machines rolling extra hours a day, extra days a season by lending to neighbors, doing custom work, renting, or by going into pools.

This means more food for our fighters, for our munitions workers, and for the soldiers of our allies. This is adding up to a quicker victory, with more of our sons, fathers, husbands and brothers coming home safe and whole from the fighting front.

SOYBEAN FLOUR MADE AVAILABLE IN NORFOLK

The Norfolk Nutrition Committee, under the chairmanship of Dr. Raymond Kimbrough, has made a valuable contribution in the promotion of good nutrition for civilians. Through the efforts of this committee, soybean flour, the best protein alternate we have, has been placed on the retail market in two-pound bags.

Promotion activity of the Norfolk Nutrition Committee is urging the release of this flour to retailers included the experimental use of the flour in one of the Norfolk grammar school cafeterias. On May 18 they also sponsored a conference for school and cafeteria managers, at which time soybean flour muffins, meat extenders, pastries and breads were demonstrated.

Norfolk's interest in soybean flour and its uses came as a result of the Foods for Victory School held in January under the sponsorship of the committee and the Norfolk Defense Council.

MARVIN JONES' CROP REPORT

War Food Administrator Marvin Jones said recently that, on the average, farmers are meeting this year's production goals for field crops. Earlier reports indicated that livestock and live-stock products also will reach production goals. Mr. Jones said: "We will have enough food in this country—given at least average weather for the rest of the year—to give civilians adequate and healthful diets, in addition to meeting military and other essential wartime requirements. This does not mean, of course, that there is any better chance than appeared earlier for having all the food that civilians would like to buy, or that civilian supplies for some individual items will not be far below the demand."

"For some important crops—including rice, oats, flaxseed, and potatoes, estimated 1943 acreage is well above the year's goals. Acreage of corn, hay, barley, grain sorghums, cotton and tobacco is about at the goals. Acreage of sweet potatoes, dry field beans, peanuts and sugar beets is below 1943 goals."

FARMERS WILL GET GASOLINE

"Farmers are entitled to first call in receiving motor fuel when they present valid 'E', 'R' or bulk coupons or ration checks which are issued pursuant to Ration Order 5-C of the Office of Price Administration. Dealers (whether retail or wholesale) must accord them this privilege. This means, that if necessary, the dealer shall not deliver any motor fuel for any non-agricultural or non-military use until these preferred demands have been satisfied"—statement by Acting Petroleum Administrator for War Ralph K. Davies.

AMENDED WOOL ORDER FACILITIES MARKETING

Producers and pools of producers anywhere in the United States may now sell shorn wool direct to mills instead of through the Commodity Credit Corporation, the War Food Administration announced to the state war board in an amendment to Food Distribution Order 50 which became effective June 12. The amendment exempts from all requirements of the order shorn wool produced in 19 Atlantic Coast and Cotton Belt states, including Virginia, because production in these states is too small to support a specialized wool trade. All provisions of the order on pulled wool remain in effect.

DESTROY OLD FOOD STAMPS

The OPA is urging Virginians to destroy ration stamps for processed foods or meats which are not used during their period of validity. It was pointed out that after the expiration date, if the stamps are torn out and given to a retailer, he may use them unlawfully to replenish his inventory.

BOOKS TO OWN

THE FIGHTING SOUTH. By John Temple Grimes. 282 pp. New York: Putnam's Sons.

This is a book for Americans who would understand the South. And an understanding of the South is prerequisite to a knowledge of America.

The author takes as his starting point certain arresting facts about that huge portion of our America, the former Confederacy, strikingly noticeable to the observer mind since the present war began. Among them are especially two: no section of the country responded better to the government's appeal for men and sentiment with which to oppose the Axis threat, and the physical fitness of the men for the job was nowhere equal to that of the sleepy Southerners, the sons of that race and region which constituted "America's Number 1 economic problem," in the words of President Roosevelt.

Mr. Grimes sets out to present the why of this and other things. The explanation is based on years of observation and living in the South as an objective witness and newspaper commentator. A Southerner, educated in the North, he is well equipped to observe and to interpret. His new book brightly reflects that equipment. It will do much to enlighten minds; and, it is hoped, to shape intelligent and realistic planning for the great region which has its roots firmly embedded in the "rules, fixities, devotions, dramatics, acceptances, and eternities of Queen Victoria, Robert E. Lee, and God Almighty." In writing a book on regionalism, the author is careful to point out the difference between sectionalism in the South and regionalism. The former, he says, is "a silly thing, sentimental always, and looking backward." On the other hand, regionalism is "a recognition of facts of geography, economics, history, etc., which distinguish parts of the nation and give each a set of problems, opportunities, interests, and expressions with resulting contribution to national variety."

In a stimulating and readable manner he presents those vital factors of life in the South: geography, economics, and history. He makes the reader conscious of such facets of them as: freight rates; discriminations, tariffs, existence of two contiguous prolific races, single crop farming, literary impulses, and preponderance of agriculture. The vast possibilities of development into a balanced, and still virile, civilization with unlimited contribution to American strength is forcefully presented through a medium of realistic observation and openly recognized of facts. This is no book of a visionary; it is rather one of a hard headed man with vision. Also it is enlightened by the alchemy of humor. Its value is enhanced by significant comment on the direction and forces of American growth of the past two decades.

This book may be secured from your local library or from the University of Virginia Extension Division, in Charlottesville.

Health Notes

Prevention Versus Cure

"Prevention is the keynote of modern medicine and dentistry. A few decades ago one of the main purposes of science was to control such diseases as smallpox, diphtheria and typhoid fever. Epidemics, caused by those types of illness, even minor ones, now are relatively rare. This fortunate situation has made possible a shift in emphasis from these former mass devastators which lend themselves to public health control, to the reduction of illnesses that, in addition to scientific measures, require intelligent individual cooperation," states Dr. I. C. Riggan, State Health Commissioner.

"It is tragic that thousands become seriously ill and many others die prematurely each year because such persons fail to realize that Nature requires everyone to live within reasonable bounds, and, in addition, to do their part in personal prevention. There are many conditions which, in the early stages, are not likely to be sufficiently noticeable, if indeed at all, to send the average person to the physician's or dentist's office. Nevertheless, the periodic check-up by the family doctor and the twice-a-year examination by the dentist often will make possible the discovery of an incipient disease which, when thus promptly recognized, is amenable to treatment. Indeed, taking time by the forelock, gives medical and dental science their full opportunity to do their curative best, and in the majority of instances with satisfactory results.

The average person has not yet caught up with science in this respect. He still argues that if he is not actually aware that something is wrong, then nothing serious can be wrong. The steadily increasing deaths from diabetes, cancer, nephritis and from heart and allied circulatory conditions, even though more persons are living to the age when these diseases strike, is definite evidence that such diseases often are stealthy in their approach and can make great headway before the victim is aware of their presence.

While this is impressively true in case of the above mentioned conditions, prevention of disease by means of personal and professional dental care is equally important. Therefore, the effective use of the toothbrush daily, the careful and proper employment of dental floss to remove food particles between the teeth, as well as the prompt filling of cavities are all a part of preventive dentistry. Such procedures remove possibilities of infection that can, and often, do much constitutional damage, and which get their start by bad teeth and diseased gums.

"Speaking generally, many sick beds, as well as graves, are filled with the 'don't care' crowd. However, those who consider general and mouth health as assets to be conserved will aid themselves and society by paying reasonable attention to the factors involved in personal prevention."

TEN PER CENT REDUCTION IN FOREST FIRES

The Virginia Forest warden reported 1415 forest fires during the period January 1 to June 30, 1943—according to a statement made by F. C. Pederson, State Forester. The forest warden estimated that the fires burned 73,000 acres of privately owned land which is approximately one acre burned per 165 acres of forest land. By way of comparison, during the same period last year the forest warden reported 2549 fires and 230,800 acres burned.

The State Forester in commenting on the area burned this Spring, said it almost equaled the total forest area of Gloucester County, and was greater than that of Warren county.

Damage to timber and second growth was estimated to be $500,000. This estimate did not include the tens of thousands of dollars damage caused to wildlife, stock, fences, houses and barns, and the hundreds of man days labor cost fighting the fires by farmers during the busy planting season, high school students, soldiers, coal and manganese miners, wood cutters, sawmill crews and others. Such losses are especially serious at this time when all of Virginia's timber resources and manpower are so critically needed in our all-out war effort.

Smokers who thoughtlessly threw away lighted matches, cigarette butts and pipe heels were reported to have caused 27 per cent or 382 of the fires. The railroads operating in the State were responsible for approximately 17 per cent or 240 fires, which is a large increase over former years. This increase in railroad caused fires is due, it is believed, to the heavier traffic and use of obsolete equipment, necessitated by the increased movement of troops and war supplies.

The State official expressed appreciation for the cooperation given to the forest warden by those people who delayed burning trash, sedge, brush and new ground until after 4 P.M. during March, April and the first half of May as required by the Virginia Forest Fire Law.

The close cooperation reduced the number of fires by approximately 10 per cent or 142 fires.

Wife of Governor Sews 48th Star on Flag

Symbol of American Unity Taken to Washington

The 48th star was sewn on an American flag that had made a tour of the United States, in impressive flag day ceremonies at Baye Park, Richmond. Mrs. Colgate W. Darden, Jr., wife of Virginia's Governor and Director of Civilian Defense, deftly stitched the emblem in its place, using a gold thimble presented her for this special task by the Richmond Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution.

In spite of blistering heat and transportation difficulties because of the ban on non-essential driving, several hundred people journeyed to the park, in public conveyance or on foot, to participate in the ceremony.

J. Henry Smythe, Jr., of New York, originator of the idea of having every Governor's wife sew a star on the flag, was among those present. From Richmond the flag was taken to Washington for presentation to President Roosevelt with the request that it be carried to the peace conference when Allied arms win the final victory over Axis aggression.

Governor Darden spoke briefly, expressing the hope that the flag would be carried to the peace conference, as a symbol of American unity.

CARE SHOULD BE TAKEN AGAINST LOSING NEW BOOK

Rationing Coupons Are Valuable; Hard for Replacing

For purposes of identification you should fill in those blank spaces on the cover of your War Ration Book No. 3.

But do not take your new ration book to your local board to have this done.

This is the advice of the Office of Price Administration, which has issued some hints on how to protect your ration books.

The OPA explained that only the applicant's name is being written on the front cover of the new ration book at the state mailing center. Applicants were urged to complete the data upon receipt of the book so that if it is lost, the finder could return it immediately.

The OPA advises every household to keep a record of the numbers of all ration books, including books one and two. The numbers should be retained with valuable documents so that you may be able to tell your local board essential information in case your books are lost, misplaced or stolen.

"Ration books are valuable documents and every effort should be made to protect them," a district OPA director declares. All applications for replacements are investigated by OPA investigators, he added.

"Replacement of lost or stolen books on an equitable basis is one of the biggest problems of the rationing program," the OPA officially asserted. "There would be fewer losses if everyone treated the ration books with the same care as money."

The district director gave these hints on how to help protect your ration books:

(1) Don't put your ration book in the grocery bag with your groceries. Many persons forget and throw the bags away with the other trash.

(2) Don't leave ration books in discarded clothing.

(3) Don't leave books in the glove compartment of your automobile. Hundreds are stolen weekly from glove compartments.

(4) Don't leave your book in your purse or market bag on the counter while you shop.

(5) Don't leave ration books in places where pets, babies, and young children can reach them. Many books are mutilated and destroyed in this manner.

(6) Remember, ration books are valuable documents. They cannot be replaced easily. Except in an emergency, you may, within the discretion of your local board, be without rations for as much as 60 days, even if the loss or destruction was not your fault. Every application for replacement must be investigated.

The director urged householders who are now receiving copies of War Ration Book No. 3, to take steps to safeguard the new books since it is not contemplated that the new books will become valid until September or later.

Under Miss Johns supervision twenty-five of the schools of the county have taken an active part in the program of the Junior Red Cross in the past year. The Juniors roll call for 1942 was $233.13.

Miss Johns, in her report to the Executive Board, stated that $50 had been contributed by the Princess Anne Junior Red Cross to the National Children's Fund which is a fund established by the American Red Cross to take care of, and aid needy children all over the world whenever the need arises. Many English children and children of unoccupied France and China have benefited from this fund.

Through the Tidewater Camp and Hospital Service Council $89.95 was spent locally for service men. Through the efforts of the Junior Red Cross 500 books were collected and given to the service men, 100 games, 2000 magazines and two subscriptions to local papers.

New Quots for Chapter

Mrs. Walter C. Maher, Chairman of Production for the Princess Anne County Chapter, American Red Cross, announces that the chapter has accepted a new quota of $76 K. Books to be made and filled in the next few months.

Mrs. J. Burks Withers is chairman of the Kit Bag Committee. For $1.00 you can fill a bag for a soldier. The bags are filled with such necessities as writing paper, playing cards, toilet articles, books, pencils, etc. One is handed each soldier as he boards a transport that carries him overseas to fight for his country.

Already the chapter under the chairmanship of Mrs. Withers has sent in a quota of 288 of these bags and it is hoped many residents will avail themselves of the opportunity to help fill the new quota. The bags mean much to the soldier who receives them. The chapter has just received the following V-mail letter:

Dear Friends:

I want to thank you for the Red Cross Kit that was given to me by you. The bag itself came in very handy besides all the other equipment. All of the soldiers I know, appreciate them even though they don't write a thank you letter. We not only thank you for this but for all the other things and backing you are giving us.

May God richly bless you.

A Soldier.

Details may be had from Mrs. Withers or from the local Red Cross Chapter, 1508 Atlantic Ave., Virginia Beach, Va.

WOODBROW WILSON HOSPITAL OPENS AT STAUNTON

RICHMOND—The War Department's new Woodrow Wilson General Hospital at Staunton has received its first compliment of patients. A 12-car hospital train discharged some 250 wounded veterans of the African campaign on Virginia soil.

Some of the stretcher cases were singing "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia" as they were borne to the battery of ambulances waiting to take them to their new convalescent haven.

expected by friends to drop out of the senate before many months. He has served as Woodrow Wilson's secretary of the treasury, 23 faithful years in the senate and 17 years in the house.

Virginia politicos close to Governor Darden are passing out the tip that when Glass retires, Darden will appoint as the senator's successor, not 55-year-old Congressman Cliff Woodrum, the most outstanding congressman from Virginia, but 73-year-old Congressman Tom Darden.

It takes about 400,000 Nazi occupation troops in Norway to hold down that country's population of approximately three million inhabitants.

Farmers Urged to Plant Winter Cover

In view of the uncertain feed situation due to record numbers of livestock on farms, producers participating in the AAA program have been advised by the state committee to make full use of emergency feed and winter cover crops.

Quick-feed crops, such as sudan, millet, sorghum and soybeans are excellent feed crops if planted in time and will provide extra hay this winter. Crimson clover may be planted in corn at the last cultivation. It is suggested that Experiment Station recommendations be followed.

It is also time to plan for seedling winter cover crops this fall to keep every tilled acre covered in order to maintain fertility of the land for maximum production. This is especially important on land where such crops as peanuts, soybeans, corn, cotton, tobacco and potatoes were grown.

Crimson clover, ryegrass and small grains not only cover the land during winter months when erosion and leaching are worst, but provide late fall and early spring grazing. Crimson clover and small grain will also make good hay next year. Legumes such as clovers, vetch and Austrian winter peas add considerable nitrogen to the soil and are valuable in meeting food and fiber production needs.

Farmers can obtain crimson clover through county AAA associations in lieu of payments earned under the program. The AAA will furnish an amount of crimson clover equal in cost to a farmer's 1943 farm allowance, plus any part of his 1943 allowance not already used.

Fuel-Oil Questions and Answers

NORFOLK, VA. — The following questions and answers pertaining to renewals of fuel oil rations for next year were issued June 21 by the Office of Price Administration:

Q. In what areas will fuel and kerosene be rationed next year?

A. In the same 33 states and the District of Columbia where it was rationed last winter.

Q. Why?

A. Because facilities for transporting petroleum products, including fuel oil and kerosene, into these states remain insufficient, despite new pipe lines, to provide for normal consumption. Direct military needs, off shore and on shore, have increased even more than our enormous expansion of pipeline facilities can provide for.

Q. When will the new ration be issued?

A. Plans have been made to issue the new ration coupons during June to those who live at the same address as last year, so that they can begin filling up their tanks in July.

Q. Why so early?

A. Dealers can give consumers better delivery service throughout the year if they can deliver in the summer. This will help them save manpower and truck shortages in filling the consumer's tanks early and so add appreciably to the total storage capacity in the rationed area.

In addition, OPA pointed out that War Price & Rationing Boards will be very busy in the succeeding months, so that consumers, to be assured that their applications will be taken care of promptly, must file them early. It is important that dealers and the government have immediate information which applicants for renewals will provide about the amount or kind of oil rationed that each consumer requires. This information tells dealers and the government how much of each type of oil to bring into each neighborhood for next year.

Q. How will the renewal be made?

A. The entire process will be by mail.

Q. What happens first?

A. Early in June, local War Price & Rationing Boards will begin mailing the simple renewal forms to every person who received a ration of fuel oil last year.

Q. When I get my form, what should I do with it?

A. Fill it out and mail it back to the Board.

Q. When?

A. Just as soon as possible—within two or three days.

Q. Does it take much time to fill out the renewal form?

A. No. There are only a few simple questions. They ask:

1. The applicant's name and address.

2. Address where ration will be used, (if different from the applicant's);

3. Name of last year's applicant (if different from the present applicant);

4. Name of applicant's supplier and the kind of oil used.

Q. Is any signature required?

A. Yes, the applicant's.

Q. Will I be required to report any unused portion of my last year's ration, or turn in any unused coupons?

A. No. But you will be given opportunity in the application to state that you need less of next year, and that you will, therefore, accept a specific number of gallons less than last year's basic ration.

Q. What will the Board do when it receives my application?

A. Check it against the application filed last year for your

Budget Points and Money

Rules for Wartime Shoppers When Filling "Market Basket"

Are you a good wartime shopper? Do you watch both price and points?

That's the way to pamper the food budget, to make wartime shopping easier and more economical.

Market basket prices are being set town by town for all communities. They have already been established in Virginia Beach. They are set by brand size of container and by class of store.

In other words when you go to buy a can of tomatoes there is a legal top ceiling price for that can of tomatoes, depending on the brand and size you buy. Your corner grocer, who gives you delivery and credit service, can charge so much, the super-market down the street can charge so much. You'll find the same price differences that you have always found from store to store.

But you need never be in doubt about the highest price you should pay. All stores are required to post their community ceiling price and the class of store to which they belong. One glance at your grocer's list of community prices is enough to tell you how much he can legally charge you for most of the foods you buy. He can charge you less, of course but never more.

And you can go one step farther—wise shoppers will—Price lists, duplicates of those grocers must post, are available to you to carry right in your purse when you go shopping. If you haven't already clipped this list from the newspapers, ask the price panel of your local war price and rationing board how you can get your list.

This is Uncle Sam's way of proddwelling, then issue you a new basic ration for the amount you received last year.

Q. Any exceptions?

A. If you live in a very small dwelling, the Board may make some upward adjustment to reduce severe cuts in last year's rations for some of these dwellings.

Q. Will Boards in any instance reduce the new ration below last year's ration?

A. Not unless as an applicant you state that you are willing to accept less. Also in any case where the Board finds an error in last year's ration which gave you more than you were entitled to, it will correct the error.

Q. We have a baby, born last month. Will this entitle me to a children's allowance next winter in addition to the basic ration?

A. Yes. But if there is already a child under four years of age in the family, the new baby will not entitle you to a second child's allowance.

Q. How do I apply for the extra child's allowance?

A. You may apply on a special form later in the summer or early fall. The time and procedure will be announced by OPA. In the meantime, you should apply for your basic ration on the simple renewal form if your address is the same as last winter.

Q. Because my aunt has come to live with us, we are opening another room. This means heating space in addition to that which I reported last year. Will I be entitled to a larger ration?

A. Yes. But you apply now only for the basic ration on the regular renewal form. Anyone who has had a change of circumstances entitling him to a larger ration may apply for the extra amount at a date and according to procedure to be announced later.

Q. What will the Board do when it receives my application?

A. Check it against the application filed last year for your tecting you from black market, inflationary prices, his way of giving you an important wartime responsibility for checking prices as a means of holding down the cost of living.

Actual dollars and cents ceilings have been set for bread, butter, canned citrus fruits and juices, jellies, breakfast cereals, coffee, cereal beverages, dried fruit, eggs, processed fish, lard, cooking and salad oils, all types of shortening, condensed and evaporated milk, poultry, preserves, meats (beef, veal, lamb, mutton and pork), sugar, syrup, canned fruit, canned vegetables, soaps and cleansers, virtually nearly everything you buy for your table.

Before the "market basket" dollars and cents prices went into effect, there were retail price ceilings, but they were based on prices that each individual store had charged during a previous period. You might pay one price for a can of peaches in one store, a different price for the same size and grade of peaches in another store. It was almost impossible to know the top price for your own town.

Now that is water over the dam. The new type of price regulation is as simple as ABC and just as easy to understand.

Here are five rules for wartime shoppers:

1. Budget food points and money.

2. Plan a shopping list ahead of time, listing both the points and money you will spend.

3. Carry a list of "market basket prices" with you when you shop, and check the price of everything you buy.

4. Keep a record of the points and money you spend.

5. Report to your local war price and rationing board when you are overcharged. Be sure to ask for a sales slip and submit it along with a complete description of the item, the name and address of the store.

"It is time to work," asserts a Washington writer. It's got to be time and a half or double time before some folk will, though.

One of the columnists has come to the defense of congress. And some folk are vindictive enough to thing congress deserves it.

The OPA, it is alleged, is in need of horse-sense. Certainly donkey-sense appears to have been given a fair trial.

VACATION TIME?

* Don't travel by train . . . war travel comes first!

* Don't waste gas and tires . . . they're vital to Victory!

* Vacation funds into Victory funds: buy Bonds instead!

* Help a nearby farmer: American food will win the war!

IT HAS always been a grand old American custom . . . those two weeks every summer that belong just to you . . . two weeks of fun. Vacation time!

Kind of hard to give it up? Got an awful yearning for sea-breezes or mountain air? Tempted to get the ol' "bus" out and squander those "A" coupons on one glorious trip?

Those boys in Sicily aren't on any vacation. And the air isn't so exhilarating in a fox-hole. The same amount of gasoline that would take you to the beach will help take a Thunderbolt over Tobie. Some boy in uniform may be as anxious for that seat on a bus or train . . . to get home . . . as you are to get away from home. You can buy a lot of bonds, or pick a lot of pees . . . with the time and money you'd spend on vacation.

Vacation at home . . . near home . . . this summer!

Army's Restricted Zone Covers Entire Beach Area

Use of Cameras Cut Sharply—Photographs, Sketches Drawings Banned for Duration

Virginia Beach comes within the newly restricted military area where use of cameras is virtually prohibited. A Public Proclamation was issued August 9th by Lieutenant General Hugh A. Drum, Commander of the Eastern Defense Command and First Army, who stated that these measures were dictated by military necessity.

Another restriction in the proclamation was that all persons, except military personnel in the performance of their official duties, are barred from the beaches during the hours of darkness. However, the Town Council of Virginia Beach, at the request of the army, more than a year ago enacted an ordinance prohibiting the public from the beach during dimout hours and the Virginia Beach Police Force assisted by military officials have been enforcing this statute.

Briefly the principal points of the proclamation are as follows:

CAMERAS—Under the new regulations "no person not in the armed forces of the United States engaged in the official performance of his official duties shall, without authorization by competent military authority (service commanders), use or operate any camera while engaged in any flight in any aircraft."

PHOTOGRAPHS, SKETCHES, DRAWINGS— "No person not in the armed forces of the United States engaged in the official performance of his official duties shall, without authorization by competent military commander of any area designated pursuant to Executive Order of the President, No. 9066, dated February 19, 1942, shall enter, remain in or be found in the Eastern Military Area, or heretofores or which may hereafter be designated by the Commanding General, Eastern Defense Command and First Army, as a Prohibited or Restricted Zone, or any part or portion thereof, or any object within any such area." This will prohibit, for instance, individuals standing either inside or outside a Restricted Zone such as a beach, or a Prohibited Zone, from photographing objects within the Zone. It was pointed out that this was in addition to previous restrictions prohibiting the possession of cameras by any person within a Prohibited Zone and the use of cameras by any person within a Restricted Zone.

LIGHTING— "No person in control of lighting shall fail or neglect to regulate and control such lighting in accordance with the terms of restrictions imposed by proclamations and orders issued by the Commanding General, Eastern Defense Command and First Army. The effect of this restriction is to fix uniform responsibilities for the control of lighting with respect to compliance with the dimout regulations in the dimout zone. These responsibilities are similar to those previously imposed concerning unattended and other lighting during periods of blackout and air raid as prescribed by the Air Raid Protection Regulations previously issued by military authorities." Accordingly, persons who leave lights unattended will not be able to escape responsibility for dimout violations.

Persons Excluded

The proclamation refers to exclusions from zones as follows: "No person who heretofore or hereafter has been or is prohibited from entering or remaining in the Eastern Military Area by any military commander of any area designated pursuant to Executive Order of the President, No. 9066, dated February 19, 1942, shall enter, remain in or be found in the Eastern Military Area, or any part or zone thereof."

It was explained that this restriction applies to individual exclusions only and not to the mass evacuation of Japanese which took place on the West Coast, for which separate provision was made by the War Department.

Please Send Money With Service Mens' Pictures for Paper

A charge of $2.50 will be made for using pictures of service men in this column. We do not have our own engraving department, and must send the cuts to an engraving plant to have them made. The charge of $2.50 is sufficient only to cover our expense, including mailing, and we do not run this feature as a money-making scheme.

We are always glad to publish items about service men free of charge. However, if anyone desires to have a picture used in connection with the item, they must send us the sum of $2.50 with the picture.

We wish to thank the public for its cooperation in making this feature a success and hope everyone will understand why we make a charge for the pictures. Please tell your friends about this, if they do not see the paper and are planning to have pictures of service men inserted.

In addition, senders are cautioned that delays caused by the necessity for censorship will be minimized if the wrappings permit easy inspection of the contents of the package.

Parcels should not include weapons, perishables, intoxicants, poisons or inflammable articles such as matches or lighter fluid. In general, the public is urged not to send food or clothing. Men serving overseas are amply provided with both, so shipping space for gifts should be used for other purposes.

Mail for members of the Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard may be insured or registered by the sender, the announcement of the sender should be packed in metal.

Plans Made for Feed Crisis At Princess Anne Meeting

County Agent, H. W. Ozlin, Calls Farm Leaders and Professional Workers

Recommendations Heard From R. W. Dickenson and P. H. DeHart

Because of the seriousness of the feed situation, a group of farm leaders and the professional workers in the county were called together at Princess Anne Court House August 6th at 9:30 a. m. to discuss the situation and to hear recommendations from R. W. Dickenson, dairy specialist of the Virginia Agricultural Extension Division, and P. H. DeHart of the Agricultural Adjustment Agency.

It was explained that this restriction applies to individual exclusions only and not to the mass evacuation of Japanese which took place on the West Coast, for which separate provision was made by the War Department.

Improve permanent pastures with fertilizer. Apply lime if needed.

Sow at least a small acreage of alfalfa where there is suitable land.

Seed as many acres of small grain as possible, and by all means follow soybeans with small grain.

Have every untimbered acre under some kind of cover this winter, either small grain or forage crop.

Order crimson clover seed, superphosphate, and other AAA grant of all materials now. They may be charged against 1944 production allowances where allowances are used up.

If every farmer used good seed, used the recommended cultural practices, and fertilized his crop lands and pastures well, feed production in Virginia could be increased at least 25 per cent without any increase in acreage.

"THE VOICE OF A majority, swaying the course of government does not insure good government except it be the voice of a well-informed and well-intentioned people."

CONGRESS GOES HOME
U. S. Senators and Representatives of the 78th Congress of the United States who have scattered and come home for their first real vacation since the war broke out in Europe are in the midst of the most active and controversial period of United States' history.

As representatives of the people these men and women are charged with the responsibility of the enactment of such legislation as will result in the greatest good for the greatest number of the American people. They are charged with the responsibility of maintaining the effectiveness of the democracy under which this land has prospered and grown great.

In their home towns "Sennator," "Mr. Jones," or "Bill" as the case may be, these Congressmen are friends, neighbors, advisors, counsellors—yet in Washington they are law.

You have chosen them to represent you in their important government posts because of their ability to gauge the thinking of their constituents. They are in Congress because they are in a position to correlate the needs of their people and to look after their interests. They are there to contribute what they can toward the winning of the war and to the shaping of the peace after victory is won.

Both Senators and Representatives must, of necessity, depend upon their constituents to make known to them their reactions to the past activities of Congress and their thinking as it relates to the future. They have come home to discuss the affairs of the nation and to shape their ideas for the many issues that they will face on their return to Congress on September 14th.

IT IS OUR TASK
By Ruth Taylor

We who have boasted like the Pharisee of old—"I thank Thee, Lord, that I am not as other men,"—had had a rude awakening in the mob attacks and riots that have sprung up like poison weeds in various parts of the country.

We thought it couldn't happen here, that we were too well balanced to secure in our own freedom for prejudice and hatred to flare beyond the bounds of talk.

We underestimated the greatness of the tensions of war. We overestimated our own strength of character. We forgot how we had permitted it to be sapped by group thinking, stirred up by subtle propaganda, undermined by carelessness, criticism, poisoned by suspicion.

Our faith in democracy is now being tested. We who have professed freedom have to decide whether we fear freedom for others.

It makes no difference whether the recent troubles were the work of enemy saboteurs, or of groups within our own country. It makes no difference on whose side the mistakes were. If the other side makes mistakes, so do we.

And, it is more important for us to humbly acknowledge our own errors than to spend our time criticizing those on the other side.

We must apply democracy to all groups within our country if we are to get that democracy for ourselves. We must champion the rights of all people to fair treatment. We must give fair treatment to all people.

SOURCES FOR OIL

Claims are made in Washington to the effect that if peacetime practices of drilling for new oil wells were continued that most of the shortages of petroleum and its derivatives would be met.

The present demand for oil for military purposes was recently estimated by the Office of Lieutenant General Somervell at one million barrels daily, exclusive of aviation gasoline and lubricants. The United States requires about 4,120,000 barrels of oil daily for all purposes.

Apparently parts of South America have extensive oil fields. Mexico must have a good deal of oil, too, as it confiscated British and American oil properties in 1938. The Netherland West Indies have a major supply located only 4,120 miles from Great Britain.

FARMERS SEEM TO BE DOING WELL

A splendid philosophy was explained by Secretary Wickard of the Department of Agriculture when he appeared before a Committee of Congress investigating the Farm Security Administration. "It is my conviction that this government must do everything practical to see that every worthy and industrious farm family has an opportunity to operate, manage and eventually own its farm," he declared. The Secretary referred to early days when there were endless tracts of cheap and worthless lands, and plenty of land for homesteaders. He reminded Congress that at one time farm lands were owned and operated by large land owners and corporations. In recent years, he related, more than one million farmers received "rehabilitation loans" from the government. Then came an increase in the net worth of lands and farmers began to pay up loans on their properties until in the present year the ratio of pre-payments has reached the amazing rate of 93.5 per cent. As of May 5 the Farm Security Administration had paid back its borrowings from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation until all but $67,782,000 of a total of $329,640,000 had been liquidated. He also told the Congress that the Tenant Purchase borrowers are repaying their loans at the rate of 99 per cent. On the face of that report given by the Chief of the Department of Agriculture the farmers seem to be doing pretty well.

RURAL TRAFFIC

The traffic on rural roads in the East has decreased in the last six months to less than half of pre-war normal, according to an official government report.

THE SUPREME COURT SAYS SO

In a remarkable decision handed down a few days ago by the Supreme Court it was held that the States cannot compel school children, or fanatics to salute the American Flag. In 1940 the Court upheld the Constitutionality of the Flag salute. Now the Supreme Court reverses its own decision by a vote of six to three. The opinion written by Justice Jackson said: "Compulsory unification of opinion achieved only the unanimity of the graveyard." He added "to believe that patriotism will not flourish if patriotic ceremonies are voluntary and spontaneous instead of a compulsory routine is to make an unfaltering estimate of the appeal of our institutions to free minds . . . If there is any fixed star in our constitutional constellation, it is that no official, high or petty, can prescribe what shall be orthodox in politics, nationalism, religion, or other matters of opinion, or force citizens to confess by word or act their faith therein. If there are any circumstances which permit an exception, they do not now occur to us."

The decision reversed the conviction of members of Jehovah's Witnesses.

The decision is accepted in Washington as upholding religious freedom. Chief Justice Stone cast his vote in 1940 in holding that public school children must salute the flag "even in defiance of their conscientious scruples." On the other hand Justice Frankfurter, who wrote the majority opinion in 1940 holding that school children must salute the flag, changed his position and voted with the Chief Justice. "It is self-delusive," declared Frankfurter, "to believe that the liberal spirit can be enforced by judicial invalidation of a liberal legislation."

It is just as well to skip Jehovah's Witnesses and their superficial and trivial objections to saluting the flag. The big point is that the wise men and the able lawyers who are members of the Supreme Court are not afraid to admit that they were wrong, and say so.

AFER THE WAR

"Post-war" "recovery" means more than post-war plans. American business will be in low gear when the shooting is finished and it will be a long time before we get back to what Harding used to call "normalcy."

RADIO TAKES THE RAP

The Supreme Court of the United States in a decision handed down a few days ago said that the powers of Congress to license radio broadcasting gives the Federal Communications Commission the right to regulate the entire business conduct of all broadcasting chains and stations. The decision is held as another danger to the freedom of the press.

Radio is in a strait jacket, and the chains and stations as they now exist are held to constitute monopolies. The theory of the radio case is very much like the case against the Associated Press. New socialistic theories are challenging freedom of all forms of communication.

stand up for the rights of all, if there are to be rights for any.

The responsibility, as always, lies with the majority. There is no real minority problem—it is always the problem of the majority. This does not mean that the majority must coddle the minority—far from it. But, as the stronger power, the majority is charged with enforcing the laws which it has made, and with such fair and equal treatment to all minorities within its ranks, that there is no room for resentment from those minorities.

To serve our own best interests, we must follow the course of right. There is nothing that can endure that is built on unfair treatment. And, the remedy for what has happened begins in and with ourselves. We must set a seal upon our own lips, we must watch our own actions—that none of the hundreds of the world we are fighting is permitted to devastate our own fair land of freedom. Not only abroad must we defend the indefensible. Not only abroad must we succor the weak. Here as well as abroad must we shun injustice, greed and hatred that peace may come again and the American way of life, which is democracy, prevail.

We must apply democracy to all groups within our country if we are to get that democracy for ourselves. We must champion the rights of all people to fair treatment. We must give fair treatment to all people.

As Others See It

THIS IS INTERESTING

Almost every great power of history has spilt its blood on the rocky soil of Sicily.

So far as is known the Phoenicians were the first conquerors. They were on the ground, no doubt exploiting the natives, when the first Greek invaders arrived. That was about 725 years before the birth of Christ. For a couple of centuries thereafter Sicily basked in the reflected glory of Athens.

Then the Peloponnesian wars raged across the island. Then the Carthaginians arrived and four bloody wars were fought in which the great Sicilian cities were laid waste.

Came next the Punic war in which Sicily was taken from Carthage and annexed by Rome, thus becoming the first province of the great Roman Empire. In this axis sort of arrangement Sicily became Rome's bread basket, and its lands were tilled by gangs of slave laborers. Finally the slaves revolted (Something to think about, Mr. Schickgruber), and two bloody wars resulted. That was in the second century before Christ.

Through the early Christian centuries the island was racked by the miscellaneous wars of the period. Then in the ninth, tenth and eleventh centuries the Saracens came to wage a holy war on Christendom. Sicily, as the natural stepping stone from Africa to Europe, bore the brunt of fighting which was, perhaps, as brutal as any the world has ever seen. Completely conquered, Sicily became a Mohammedan possession.

After the Saracen came the Norman. After the Norman the Lombard. After the Lombard the German. Under them all Sicily writhed in agony.

The events of which we write here happened long before Columbus sailed, long before anyone in Europe dreamed that some day a great new power would rise in the west.

Today our sons are on Sicily, drawn there by the age-old necessity of military strategy. They are fighting for towns which were built by the Phoenicians, which were sacked by Hannibal and burned by the Moslems. Fighting for a bit of rock which the Creator made at the crossroads of the old world and which men have made the bloodiest slaughterhouse of all. —Omaha World-Herald (Nebraska).

of gasoline and oil is urged for the eastern seaboard states by

Joseph B. Eastman, director of the Office of Defense Transportation. And he thinks the motorists should be allowed to use their own judgment as to how they shall use what fuel they have. This will make people in the gas-starved area feel a little better, even if they don't get larger allowances. They have suffered more from the stringency than any other section. Mr. Eastman adds the practical advice that car owners in general should not lay up their cars, but use them—carefully, of course—as the fuel allowance permits. It is not patriotism, but poor judgment, to keep the cars out of commission altogether, because they deteriorate more rapidly when not in use than they do when driven moderately and kept ready for action. This is a consideration which should be heeded by people in all sections. It means preservation of a vast national asset, instead of deterioration. If a car is driven only a few miles a week, and thus kept in good condition, it remains a personal and national asset.

But keeping them that way takes money: So much money, that, to help pay for it, every one of us must loan at least 10% of his income to Uncle Sam through War Bonds.

GEORGE N. BYRD

George N. Byrd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie D. Byrd, 205 37th Street, has reported to the U. S. Naval Training Station, Great Lakes, Ill., for recruit training. After learning the fundamentals of seamanship he will be assigned to a Service School to train for the service for which he is best fitted, based upon his scores in aptitude tests which are given before graduation.

The new organization of Women's Naval Reserve celebrated its first birthday on July 31, 1943, with a total complement of some 27,000.

Lieutenant Commander Mildred H. McAfee has been advised that the organization of WAVES will be expanded about 47,000 by the beginning of 1944. This can be regarded only as the highest possible compliment being paid the patriotic young women who have volunteered to serve in the blue of the Navy. They have proven themselves so valuable that the Navy is calling for expansion of their ranks nearly four-fold over the original quota, which was left at 12,000.

WAVES of the United States Naval Reserve who decide to go to the white and voluminous bridal gowns which tradition and etiquette rule as correct. This, as a result of a recent ruling of the Navy Department, will permit chic WAVES to say "I Do" to their one and only in garments especially apropos for the occasion. This follows by a few months the ruling that WAVES may marry men in the Navy.

The film moves with sustained excitement and suspense from the famous and fateful session of the League of Nations in June, 1936, when Hale Selassie and Maxim Litvinov pleaded for collective security and resistance to aggressors through the quick series of headings, incidents and events which followed the failure to heed their pleas.

The Roland Theater will have its offering on Friday and Saturday, "BIG STREET," starring Henry Fonda and Lucille Ball.

Sunday and Monday, George Sanders and Anna Stend will be featured in "THEY CAME TO BLOW UP AMERICA."

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday there will be a double feature. George Zucco and Mary Carlisle in "DEAD MEN WALK," also a Western, "FIGHTING VALLEY."

News for Our Women Readers

Frozen Foods Prices Not Frozen

Virginia homemakers will find that the ceiling prices for frozen snap beans, corn, peas and spinach of the 1943 pack will be about the same as current maximum prices for the 1942 pack. However, they will find that prices for frozen strawberries and asparagus will be upped a bit. For asparagus, the increase will be about a cent a pound, while prices for strawberries will be increased between three and four cents a pound. OPA allows this price change because of increased material costs.

Stocking Prices Changed

Virginia women who are still wearing hose will find that the maximum prices on stockings that contain yarn composed of silk twisted with rayon or cotton yarns have been fixed by OPA to allow for varying costs based on the gauge of the hose. Retail prices range from 79 cents for the coarse gauge (39 and lower) to $1.25 for the finer gauges (51 and higher).

Substitutions In Limelight

Not only are substitutions of wood, paper and glass being used in the household from the basement to the nursery but they're finding a place among Virginia women's personal belongings. Lapel gadgets of critical metal grow fewer and fewer. Instead, women are turning toward oddly shaped wood animals and glass figurines to adorn their costumes.

Powder boxes, compacts and purse size combs—all of wood help keep up appearances in wartime. Fabric handbags are getting more and more fashionable; they have to, for leather is scarce. The lipstick container may be of wood, paper or the plastic.

Glass Goes To The Kitchen

Since Pearl Harbor, sales of glass cooking utensils have tripled. One reason is the development of flame-proof glass, used in utensils to be set directly over the flame, such as double boilers, skillets and stew-pans. To fit the glass items which can and have replaced metal ones is almost like fitting the entire contents of the kitchen.

Health Notes

HOT WEATHER CARE OF FOOD

"Each year during hot weather the number of diarrhea and dysentery cases increases. This rise cannot be attributed to any one factor but to many. Nevertheless, the majority of gastroenteric upsets and infections are due to the consumption of contaminated foods and fluids," states Dr. I. C. Riggan, State Health Commissioner.

"Many of the germs causing diarrhea and dysentery that reach food and fluids are carried by humans only. These organisms are found on the hands, the person and in the environment of innocent 'carriers.' With these possibilities of infection in mind, it follows that the less food is handled and processed the safer it will remain."

"Moreover, during this national emergency many persons are endeavoring to obtain food in sufficient quantities to maintain a diet similar to the one to which they previously had been accustomed. Because of the occasional scarcity of certain products this sometimes has been difficult and in a number of instances impossible."

"This situation in turn appears to make any meat product or other available edible substance, irrespective of its appearance or method of marketing, precious. A risk often is run in such an attitude.

"It should be thoroughly appreciated that with the best and freshest of food, adequate refrigeration is essential if it is to be kept for any length of time. In this connection, cream pies, pastries and salad mixed with mayonnaise can be as dangerous as other types of food such as meat and meat products, if adequate refrigeration is not employed. Even if properly refrigerated, such foods can be dangerous to health, if of sub-standard quality or due to a lack of freshness to start with."

"It is appreciated that this problem now is of major importance to many households as mechanical refrigerators cannot be purchased and repair parts for broken and used equipment are scarce. Ice refrigerators should be substituted promptly for mechanical refrigerators when the latter cannot be maintained. Incidentally, modern icing boxes are high in refrigerating capacity."

"However, if neither a mechanical refrigerator nor ice is used in the home, cream, pastries, salads and cold cuts of meats should be used promptly. If they are purchased, as above indicated care in the selection of the food both from the standpoint of the reliability of the dealer and the quality and freshness of the product is essential."

Funerals

Mrs. Etta Halstead Scruggs

Funeral services for Mrs. Scruggs, wife of Robert H. Scruggs, who died at the residence, 316 Sixteenth street, Virginia Beach, were conducted at the Cox Funeral home, 631 Westover avenue, Wednesday morning, at 11:00 o'clock. The Rev. Marcus W. Bloodworth, pastor of the Virginia Beach Methodist church, officiated. Interment was in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Mrs. Scruggs died after an illness of one year and six months. She was a native of Camden county, North Carolina, and had been a resident of Virginia Beach for 17 years. She was a daughter of the late J. W. and Ellen C. Ferree Halstead.

In addition to her husband she is survived by two sisters, Mrs. F. G. Watson of Miami, Fla., and Mrs. W. E. DeFord of Norfolk and a number of nieces and nephews.

4-H GIRLS IN AN ALLOUT "V" JOB

A reserve stock of 18,000,000 hunger-shattering "bombs" are now being produced by 4-H Club girls throughout the U. S. in a mighty war effort. The "bombs" are canned fruits, vegetables, meats and soups, which are being lined up on pantry shelves of rural homes for future use. They will release not only tons of commercially canned products for our armed forces, but also legions of men for the vital and important job of getting food-stuffs and weapons to the battle fronts.

To obtain proper training in preparing these "bombs" the Club girls are participating in the current National 4-H Canning Achievement activity, whose chief objectives are to contribute to the nation's 1943 wartime program of conserving vital foods, utilizing farm products, promoting varied, balanced diets, and reducing expenditures by the use of the family food preservation plan.

Participants with outstanding records of achievement in this year will receive awards provided by Mrs. Ruth Kerr, head of a glass jar concern, which are based on county, state and national levels. The activity is being conducted, along with other 4-H wartime projects of production and conservation, under the direction of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. State Agricultural Colleges and County Extension Agents.

Rev. C. M. Pratt of Williamsburg Guest

The Rev. Charles M. Pratt will occupy the pulpit of the Virginia Beach Presbyterian church on Sunday, August 15th, in the absence of Mr. Clever, the minister. Mr. Pratt is pastor of the Williamsburg Presbyterian church.

To Dig or Not to Dig

Potato Problem Faces the Victory Gardener

The problem of saving early potatoes is one confronting the average victory gardener now. Early varieties are fully matured and the vines of late potatoes are dead in most cases.

The first question is: Should the potatoes be dug now or left in the ground until cool weather?

Answer: Each garden presents a different problem which will have to be worked out individually. Generally speaking, east of the Blue Ridge or east of the Piedmont, early potatoes usually rot if left in the ground through the hot summer months.

West of the Blue Ridge, early potatoes are frequently left in the ground until fall with good results. However, when the vines are attacked by late blight (most of them have been in 1943), some rotting will probably occur, both in early and late varieties. This rotting will be worse in low ground and following rains. The amount of rotting will also vary with the severity of the late blight attack.

If the potatoes have been kept free of weeds, the ground will be bare after the vines die. This condition will allow the sun to heat the soil and, if sufficient moisture is present, rotting is apt to follow. Shade from weeds, corn, etc., tends to offset this danger.

Gardeners who decide to leave potatoes in the ground until fall should watch them closely through the warm weather by digging single hills here and there over the patch to determine how they are keeping. When rotting starts in several spots, the potatoes should be dug at once.

The second question is: When in warm weather, how should potatoes be stored?

Answer: In the coolest, darkest, best ventilated place available. A basement room where no stoves or furnaces are being used is satisfactory. Spread in layers four to six inches deep after removing all that show signs of rot. If dug when the ground is wet, sprinkle lime over the potatoes as each lot is spread out. If dug dry, lime is not necessary. A false, slatted floor will help in ventilation but is not essential.

Potatoes may be put in sacks or baskets and kept in cold storage at 38 to 40 degrees F. If this is done all rotted or scabby potatoes should be removed first.

Do not leave potatoes in the hot sun. They may scald in a short time.

Ask your county agent for information on winter storage of vegetables or write direct to V. P. I., Blacksburg, Virginia.

O. P. A. ISSUES WEEKLY RE-CAP

"The removal of coffee from rationing which the president announced in his fireside chat, applies to all trade levels, Wm. Hudgins, chairman of the Prince Anne County War Price and Rationing Board said last week.

Effective on July 29, all transactions in coffee became ration-free, the board chairman said. Dealers need send no more coffee stamps to banks for deposit, he pointed out, since banks are being instructed not to accept any more coffee ration currency.

"The removal of coffee from rationing reflects the general policy of OPA in lifting restrictions on the public just as soon as it is practical. We believe it will be possible to increase sugar allowances soon," he continued.

"Fifteen kinds of used durable goods will be brought under specific price ceilings for the first time by a new OPA regulation, effective September 1, Mr. Hudgins announced.

The regulation provides maximum prices, not only for used goods, as is, but sets pricing formulas for these items when rebuilt, reconditioned or renovated.

Articles covered by the regulation include: used furniture, bedding, stoves, floor coverings, portable lamps and lamp shades, miscellaneous hardware items, hand tools and hardware items such as shovels, wheelbarrows, hatchets and carpenters' tools, baby carriages, musical instruments (except pianos), commercial kitchen equipment, beauty and barber shop furniture, store and office fixtures and coin-operated vending machines.

"New point value lists for meats, fats and dairy products and for processed foods now in effect, show fewer changes than at any time since these programs began, Mr. Hudgins said.

Major changes involve the raising of butter from 8 to 10 points per pound and an increase in some sizes of canned tomato juice. Increases also were noted in many quick frozen foods.

Reductions came in certain pork cuts and in most shortenings.

"Application for adjustments in restaurant maximum prices now may be made under an amendment to the restaurant pricing order effective August 2, Mr. Hudgins announced recently.

Applications are to be filed with the nearest OPA district office.

The amendment also contains a provision which exempts from price control some seasonal eating establishments.

Truckers hauling live poultry or other poultry items, must post in their trucks a statement showing the name and address of the owner of the poultry while it is in transit, and the name and address of the person to whom it is being shipped. William Hudgins, chairman of the local War Price and Rationing Board, said today.

The statement must show, further, the place from which the poultry is shipped, the quantity.

If the potatoes have been kept free of weeds, the ground will be bare after the vines die. This condition will allow the sun to heat the soil and, if sufficient moisture is present, rotting is apt to follow. Shade from weeds, corn, etc., tends to offset this danger.

A similar statement must be posted in freight cars and other vehicles which transport poultry and poultry items.

An amazing thing about the little birds is their spryness when they step out of the shells. They are fully feathered and able to march right off under their own power. They run about apparently delighted to find themselves in their new surroundings, and they very soon begin pecking about to see what they can find to put in their little stomachs.

Even more amazing, perhaps, is the way they peck their way out of their shells. They always come out at the larger end of the egg. This end has been provided by nature with an open air pocket shut off from the rest of the egg by a membrane. As soon as this membrane is punctured, the tiny birds start pecking their way through the shell to freedom. The ring which they cut from the

Virginia Game Farm Raises Quail to Release

An extremely interesting sight is to watch the little quail at the State Game Farm on the Williamsburg Road if you can contrive to be there when a hatch "comes off." On a given day hundreds of little birds are due to emerge from the eggs, and they are in virtually a perfect circle, the top of the egg comes off and the bird steps out.

The casualty list is, of course, considerable. A number of eggs are infertile. Others for reasons of their own do not hatch. A very small percentage of birds are crippled when they emerge, and a few die in very early youth. But many hundreds of them mature, raise families of their own and add to the thrills of the bird hunter.

ARMY USES STATE PARKS

Virginia's state parks, closed to civilians because of war-time restrictions on travel, are not going to waste altogether, state conservation officials said.

Several have been or are being used by the military for training purposes and it is believed that additional requests for use may be received. In addition, the war department still has under consideration the office of the conservation commission to have the parks used for convalescent war patients.

ARMY USES STATE PARKS

Virginia's state parks, closed to civilians because of war-time restrictions on travel, are not going to waste altogether, state conservation officials said.

Several have been or are being used by the military for training purposes and it is believed that additional requests for use may be received. In addition, the war department still has under consideration the office of the conservation commission to have the parks used for convalescent war patients.

REPAIR SCHOOL BUSES NOW

School authorities and school bus operators have been warned by ODT against delaying the overhauling of school buses. Last-minute efforts to obtain necessary repairs may result in buses being laid up when schools open this fall. The shortage of skilled mechanics and the scarcity of repair parts may result in unexpected delays, and a check-up may reveal that some buses cannot be repaired and must be replaced. The ODT suggests that school authorities or school bus operators contact local ODT District Maintenance Advisory Committees to help solve problems that may arise.

POINT REDUCTION CONTINUED

The provision permitting retailers to make emergency reductions in the point values of rationed meats, fats and dairy products in imminent danger of spoiling, which was to expire July 31, has been extended indefinitely. OPA has announced.

Gardner Gives Reason for Ban On Enlisted Men

Traditional Social Barriers, Caused Action

Wesley Gardner, manager of the Martha Washington Hotel, in justification of his action in refusing accommodation to non-commissioned men in the armed forces, which brought forth considerable adverse criticism, issued the following statement in part:

"During the summer of 1942 I was undecided whether to keep the Martha Washington Hotel open or closed, and, as a number of hotels throughout the country were being taken over by the Government, some for the housing of officers, others for enlisted men, and after giving it considerable thought and knowing the military regulations affecting the living conditions and social life which prevented commissioned officers and their families from fraternizing and mingling in a social way with the enlisted personnel, I decided there was a need in this vicinity for a hotel catering to commissioned officers and their families . . . So, after discussing it with several officers in positions of responsibility and asking their opinions as to whether a hotel was needed or not that would cater exclusively to commissioned officers and civilians.

"After a fair trial, I knew that I had done the right thing. And, in my opinion, a very patriotic duty was performed by the Martha Washington in making a home for commissioned officers and their families, and I still feel that it is right and that they should have a hotel providing such accommodations . . . I feel that what I am doing at the Martha Washington should be praised instead of condemned."

County Housewives Urged to Increase Daily Fat Savings

Princess Anne county has 4,647 families and it has been estimated that if each of these families will save one tablespoonful of waste fat every day during the second year of the WPA fat salvage campaign, that this amount would provide enough glycerin to make 223,056 aircraft shells. During the first twelve months of the campaign the American housewives provided more than 65,000,000 pounds of fat which was enough to provide glycerin for more than 260,000 aircraft shells. The increase in the last few months has been from 3,000,000 pounds a month to more than 8,000,000 pounds. During the year, which started the first week in July, the government has asked that Virginia save 181,500 pounds of fat each month in order that the annual quota for the nation will reach the desired figures of 200,000,000 pounds. This amount will provide approximately 2,500,000 pounds of gunpowder in the next year.

Now it will be possible for the holders of these rations to continue to use their stamps until they are exhausted, unless there is a change in the purposes and uses to which the vehicle was put at the time the rations were issued. The erstwhile expiration period is now the earliest date at which renewal may be made. Persons who run out of stamps prior to the renewal date are in danger of going without.

Dealers having in stock used passenger tires that are not fit for recapping, but which can be made serviceable for emergency use by temporary repairs, may brand them with a "C" on the sidewall and sell them with or without repairs, to consumers holding Grade Three ration certificates. A dealer branding tires in stock must report to his OPA district office not later than the tenth day of each month the number branded during the preceding month.

The season for sora opens September 1 and will run until November 15. The bag limit has been raised from 15 to 25 a day and it is expected that there will be a revival of this sport.

The statewide bag limit for squirrels is six a day and 75 a year.

Chateau Frontenac, Scene of War Conference, Popular for Decades with World Travellers

INTERNATIONALLY famous as a world crossroads, a place where travelers by land and sea have gathered for almost half a century, the Chateau Frontenac, scene of the current war conference, is one of the Canadian Pacific Railway's noted hostels, and has established a world-wide reputation Its popularity dates from its opening in 1893.

Designed by the late Bruce Price, the Chateau Frontenac occupies the site of the Chateau St. Louis, official residence of the early French governors, and was named after Louis de Buade, Comte de Frontenac and governor of New France. Many of the buildings in Canadian history, including the Citadel and the Plains of Abraham, are located near the Chateau Frontenac, and the Norman-like lines of the Chateau itself suggest the old-world history of the Ancient Capital, which is the only walled city in the New World.

In the days of unrestricted travel, the Chateau Frontenac was a favorite stopping place for visitors from all nations, over a 200-foot cliff overlooking the St. Lawrence River, the Chateau has long been a focal point for tourists visiting St. Anne de Beaupré and Montmorency Falls, and is a noted jumping-off place for trips into Quebec woodlands. The Chateau is also a headquarters for winter sports, including ski activities at nearby Lac Beauport, where Fritz Loosli's revolutionary technique of Parallel Skiing instruction had its birth.

It was at Quebec that King George VI and Queen Elizabeth of England first set foot on Canadian soil to begin the Royal Tour in 1939, and it was at the Chateau Frontenac that they attended their first Canadian social function—a banquet given in their honor by the Governor General. Their Majesties also used Chateau Frontenac facilities during their stay in Quebec.

The Chateau with its 728 rooms has been the scene of many important social gatherings, including a banquet given in their honor by the Governor General. Their Majesties also used Chateau Frontenac facilities during their stay in Quebec.

The public schools in Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach will open on Thursday, September 9th, according to announcement made by Frank W. Cox, superintendent of public schools in Princess Anne county.

A change has been made in the age requirements for entrants. Any child who attains the age of six on or before September 30th will be admitted for entrance into school on September 9th.

Vaccination Necessary

Mr. Cox stressed the absolute necessity for all children who intend entering school this fall to be vaccinated against smallpox before applying for entrance. It is also advisable, that children be immunized against typhoid fever.

Mallards lead the parade of Pintails, Teals, Cans, Redheads, Gadwalls and Wedges crowding close. "Crows and Coots made the biggest increase."

Altogether it looks like the first estimate of 125 million ducks on the wing this fall over North America will be the largest number seen for many long years.

EGG SUPPLIES HOLD EVEN

About the same quantity of eggs will be available to civilians in the 12 months beginning July 1, as in the same period last year, the WPA has indicated. Of a total of 5 billion dozen eggs, civilians will use about 1.2 billion dozen.

EVERYBODY WANTS IT

A group of big business leaders have found a way of expressing themselves through the National Association of Manufacturers, in favor of "easier taxes." It all goes to show that wishful-thinking is not restricted to any special class of people.

Champagne is one of the oldest of wines, and has been the aristocrat of the family for more than five centuries.

Infant Sanitarium Has 165 Admissions to Date

Health Dept. to Give Free Immunization

Crowded Conditions of Beach Make Move Advisable

No Cases of Typhoid at Present

One of the objectives of the State Department of Health is to safeguard every home in the Commonwealth. Local health officers and their sanitation personnel are continuously engaged in checking conditions in the community, especially with regard to the water supply, that they may be in a position to warn and advise the people in a community when any danger signal is evident. The local health department of Virginia Beach is not lacking in diligence. Recent tests by state and local sanitation engineers show the water to be very good and thorough chlorination has taken place to reduce the bacterial content.

The crowded condition of the Beach has overtaxed the water supply and the low pressure has caused considerable inconvenience to many residents. Due to this condition the local and state authorities believe in acting on the theory of the "ounce of prevention" and have issued a pamphlet advising every one in the community to be inoculated against typhoid fever. The Town Health Department is offering free inoculation to those who are unable to secure the serum from their respective physicians.

At present there are no cases of typhoid in Princess Anne county. A blanket inoculation of all residents in the county will assure its immunization.

The Health Center is open daily from 9:30 a. m. to 12:00 noon and from 1:00 to 3:30 p. m. to all who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity.

Conserve Water Supply

The Town Council also makes the request that each home owner, hotel manager, hotel guest and business establishment conserve as much water as possible. Cooperation in the following manner will aid materially in conserving the limited supply of water which is available to Beach residents at the present time.

1. Investigate all faucets and repair those which may be leaking.

2. Investigate all stools and other plumbing fixtures to see that only the minimum amount of water is being used for proper operation.

3. See that no water is used unnecessarily for the purposes of watering lawns, washing automobiles or wasted about the premises for non-essential purposes.

4. Do not waste water. Avoid unnecessary or prolonged use of showers.

It is not the desire of the Town Council to curtail the use of water for essential purposes, however, if the supply is to be adequate during the remainder of this season, it is necessary that the citizens and guests of Virginia Beach cooperate by conserving water in so far as possible.

New Audible "All-Clear" Successful

Chief of Police Clarence Hoback announces thorough satisfaction in the response and cooperation of the residents of Virginia Beach to the surprise blackout Tuesday evening. The few calls and complaints of visible lights made the test one of the most successful ever experienced in the area. The new "audible all-clear" was used with no apparent confusion. The 45 second blasts of the siren being perfectly understood by all occupants of the community.

There will be a meeting of the Town Council of Virginia Beach in the rear of the old Town Hall on 14th and Pacific Ave. Mary Wales, for many years connected with radio repair work at Virginia Beach, is manager, assisted by other trained technicians.

Miss Wales recently was graduated from the V. P. I. school of radio technicians and received her diploma in "Radio Mechanics and Repairers" qualifying under the State Board of Vocational Education of Virginia.

Council to Meet Monday 8 P. M.

There will be a meeting of the Town Council of Virginia Beach in the rear of the old Town Hall on Monday, August 23rd at 8:00 p. m., as announced by Russell Hatchett, town treasurer.

"THE VOICE of a majority, swaying the course of government does not insure good government except it be the voice of a well-informed and well-intentioned people."

CAN WE HAVE PEACE?

By Ruth Taylor

What do we want after this war? We say we want an enduring peace, that we are fighting to destroy the ideologies of aggression and oppression that have forced war upon the world.

We can have peace—if we want it. The trouble is that up to now we have never wanted peace enough to put aside our own petty desires and prejudices and selfish wishes for ourselves to have it. Peace has never come first in our lives.

To have peace, we must see to it that all people have an opportunity to progress. As Mme. Chiang Kai Shek said: "Nations, like individuals, can only permanently enjoy privileges and rights if they are willing to share them with others. If they attempt to preserve them solely for themselves, they will lose them."

We can have peace if we eradicate the causes of war, if we stop troubles before they start. If we are law-abiding, we will create faith in laws. We cannot expect those who are brought up to think it smart to evade the law, to keep the laws.

We can have peace if we will train for peace. If we so plan our educational system, we can eradicate in the next generation the hatreds, resentments, prejudices and distrusts which have bogged down all attempts at understanding in the past.

We can have peace if we will work at it as hard as we work at war. We cannot wipe out the causes of war by law, but we can wipe them out by understanding. Understanding is built upon knowledge, and knowledge means applied learning.

We state that we believe in the equality of all before God. Now we must prove our faith in that creed by affording to each the equal opportunity, the equality of rights to which they are correspondingly entitled.

We have the vision of peace expressed in the Four Freedoms and in the pact of the United Nations. We must also have the practical application of this vision in the terms of every day living, in our economic and political structure. Only freedom which is strong, can endure, and only a peace that is made by free men in a world free for all, can survive. We can have peace—if we want it.

POST-WAR DEMOBILIZATION
Post-war demobilization will release 8,500,000 men from the armed forces and 6,070,000 industrial workers, a total of 14,570,000. These are the official figures, and represent 32.3 per cent of all persons who were employed in 1940.

RELIGION THRIVES IN THE SERVICES

Washington — The extent of religion activity within the Armed Forces is disclosed in the recent report of the office of chaplains. In one month, nearly 100,000 services were attended by more than 5,000,000 persons. There were more than 4,000,000 "pastoral contacts." In addition, the chaplains performed almost 4,000 marriages, received nearly 3,000 professions of religion and distributed nearly 500,000 religious articles, Testaments and Bibles. Further, 333 field reports were missing from this summary.

NATIONAL NEWS OF NOTE

FROM FISHING TO FIGHTING

Whenever the President leaves Washington the news floats about over the grapevine telegraph but newspaper men are prohibited by the censor from telling where the President "is at." Only a few days ago it was quietly whispered that he was "somewhere in the world" with Winston Churchill, and the speculation broadened to include Joseph Stalin in their company. But when FDR returned to Washington and it became known that the only international importance of the journey was that the President and eight or ten buddies had been on a fishing trip to Canadian waters. About the time the fish stories had all been told Winston Churchill's arrival in Canada was announced—and then the newsmen started fishing for another class of news.

HOW ABOUT RUSSIA?

The people of our country didn't understand Russia before the beginning of the war. We welcomed them as partners in the fight against the Axis—but we still don't understand them. It is doubtful whether we ever will. Russia isn't at war with Japan. Stalin and his government seem to appreciate the 6 millions of dollars of war and food supplies from the United States. On the other hand, Stalin continues to complain about what he says is the failure by the United States and Britain to establish a western front, even though forces have cleaned up North Africa and the Mediterranean, wiped out the power of Sicily and Italy, and brought the French people to a point where they are ready to rejoin our fighting forces. Besides, we have bombed the daylights out of Germany itself, and have made it possible for Sweden to stop Hitler's force from carrying on their traffic between Norway and the German lines.

The man who looks at the map of the world on the walls of an office in Washington finds it difficult to understand the criticism that comes out of Russia.

Meanwhile the war goes on. It is perfectly clear, as it has been at all times, that the Atlantic Charter representing the principles of government as understood by the President of the United States and the Prime Minister of Great Britain never gained the approval of Russia, any more than the common doctrines of Russia will ever be accepted by Britain and our country.

The fact is the English speaking people and the Russians and Chinese don't believe in the same political and social theories.

All this ought not to obscure the fact that the United States, Britain, Russia, China and the rest of us are all fighting the same enemies. There is no difference of opinion on that score. Inasmuch as we agree about the war it seems reasonable to hope and expect that after victory has been won the victories of peace will also be won. When we think "How about Russia" we must be broad-minded enough to acknowledge that the Russians have gone farther than the rest of us in the great struggle to crush Hitlerism as it exists throughout the world. We should be able to play ball with them in future years.

MANPOWER AND INDUCTION

First, we had a story about sagging war production that disturbed the public peace of mind. After a time a report from Chairman Donald Nelson said that the program of war production was more than four-fifths completed during the first half of 1943. Meanwhile, the Manpower Commission called for the induction of 3-A fathers, and then opened-out a loop-hole through which fathers might miss the draft by going to work in war industries.

On the face of Manpower statements it appeared that about 300,000 fathers would be in uniform by December 31, of this year. Month after month Government agencies issued estimates that a fighting force of 11,000,000 men would be in uniforms by the end of this year.

While this is the greatest war of all times, in which no efforts are spared to win, there seems to be nothing in the records up to date to show that the United States will actually use more than a fraction of its present 7,500,000 man army. The American and British forces took North Africa with less than 200,000 men and have operated in Sicily and Italy with about 225,000 men. Speaker Rayburn says our total forces abroad are two million men. Japan has 300,000 men in the Pacific. Neither the Germans, nor the Russians, have used 11,000,000 men.

It is not at all surprising that there is strong public disapproval of the Manpower order to draft fathers.

Some of our Senators have insisted that there is a lack of consistency in the Manpower Commission, of which Paul V. McNutt is Chairman, and the nation at large is backing up proposals for the establishment of a reasonable over-all policy on manpower and allocations. This indicated a possibility that the pre-war fathers will not be called in 1943.

Besides you might just as well make up your mind that the chances are far more than even that there will not be enough Axis enemies left on the firing line in Europe or anywhere in the world to call for an increase in the present size of our armies and other military forces. The enemy is on the run, even in the Pacific, from which spot General MacArthur has reported that Japan's heaviest hitting powers have been exhausted and that Japan is "now on a defensive."

Even World War I was over so suddenly that it surprised Wilson, Clemenceau and Lloyd George. Coming down to the present war we found Mussolini dropping out of the picture so fast it was hard to believe it. So prepare for a lot of surprises!

TOO LITTLE UNDERWEAR AND TOO LATE

One of the things to be devoutly wished for is that agencies of the Federal government will finally get around to working hand-in-hand with private industry in anticipating needs on the home front. This has not been the case up to the present time. Business has been forced to hold distributors off with one hand and consumers with the other, while official Washington hummed and hawed with allocations.

For example, take the underwear situation. As Roy A. Cheney, President of the Underwear Institute says: "Allocation of yarns to assure the manufacture of heavy underwear has been made because the government recognizes the importance of civilian needs, but earlier action would have minimized the threats of a shortage."

"While the underwear industry is taxing its resources to make up for time lost through the hesitancy and lack of understanding on the part of various government agencies concerned with the problem," said Mr. Cheney, "it is desirable to have a clear understanding of the reasons why a shortage threatens. Only then can it be realized by distributors of underwear and the consuming public that the underwear industry should not be held responsible for the dilemma in which it now finds itself."

A definite shortage of yarns of all kinds, finally recognized by WPB after OPA had already caused concern in the industry by threatening arbitrary standards in connection with price controls; manpower shortages resulting in a cut in production and increased costs, and the fact that thirty-five to forty per cent of the entire production of the industry goes to our armed forces and our Allies are cited by the President of the Underwear Institute as reasons contributing to the "too little, too late" drive of the industry to supply its customers.

Such basis can be found for the belief that many Federal agencies will not tackle problems until they reach the stage of becoming acute. The situation as regards underwear serves to substantiate this belief. The underwear industry is doing its best to deliver stocks to wholesalers and retailers in the face of difficult conditions. Some Federal agencies are helping, others are hindering this program. It is the consumer who is most affected and the responsibility should be placed where it belongs—with government.

AUCTION SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE

PURSUANT to the terms of a certain decretal order entered in the Circuit Court of Princess Anne County, Virginia, on the 20th day of August, 1943, in the chancery cause of Commonwealth of Virginia, Plaintiff v. Madeline T. Long, et al., defendants, the undersigned, Special Commissioner, will offer for sale at public auction, at the Town Hall, Arctic Avenue between Nineteenth and Twentieth Streets, in the Town of Virginia Beach, Virginia, on Thursday, August 26th, 1943, at 4:10 o'clock P. M., the following real property located in the Town of Virginia Beach, Virginia, to wit:

Lots Ten (10), Eleven (11), Fourteen (14), Fifteen (15), Sixteen (16), Seventeen (17), Eighteen (18) and Nineteen (19) in Block Sixty-two (62), Lots Seven (7), Nine (9), Twenty-two (22), Twenty-eight (28) and Thirty (30) in Block Twenty-six

"Makes me feel extra good hearing you talk that way, Judge... never realized I was contributing to the war effort in the way you mention."

"You certainly are, Hank. Part of the grain you farmers grow is used by the beverage distilling industry to make alcohol for war purposes. Hundreds of millions of gallons are required every year for smokeless powder, medical supplies, chemical warfare materials, shatterproof glass, lacquer for camouflaging equipment, fuel to propel torpedoes and in the making of critically needed synthetic rubber. But, Hank, the grain used in distilling this alcohol is not thrown away. It is processed and comes back to the farm again in the form of distilled dried grains or dried solubles which you use for dairy feeds, hog supplements and poultry mash. This year alone it is estimated 388,000 tons of these much needed feed stuffs will be produced by the distillers."

"I can see now, Judge, why you say it's a mighty good thing we have a legal distilling industry in times like these."

News for Our Women Readers

WAC

Members of the Women's Army Corps have been assigned to many Army posts in the state of Virginia. A company of Wacs are stationed at Camp Lee, Virginia. Other companies are serving at Camp Pickett, the Richmond Army Air Base, Fort Eustis, the Specialized Training School at Lexington, at various Air Craft Warning stations, Fort Monroe, Fort Myer, and in several camps in the Hampton Roads area.

Reports from these posts show that the Wacs are doing essential work for the Army in a very efficient manner. Lieutenant John E. Brier said: "There is still a great need for more women in the service. The Air Corps, as well as other branches of the service, have requested thousands and thousands of Wacs for non-combatant duties with the Army. Frankly, the demand for Wacs in the service far exceeds the supply on hand at the present time."

Household Linen Supply Adequate

Sheets, pillow cases and towels for all branches of the armed forces means there'll be less than the usual quantity for the Virginia homemakers. However, if housewives buy only what they need, and take unusually good care of what they have, then there'll be enough for everyone. Incidentally, sheets for double beds will be easier to find than the single sheets used by the armed forces and hospitals. Extra-sized sheets and sheets with dainty blue or pink borders are not banned, but manufacturers are concentrating on standard sizes and all-white sheets. Bedspreads aren't being made in great quantity, but stocks already in the hands of retailers and wholesalers, together with the limited number being made, should provide sufficient stocks for some time.

Baby Carriage Quota Cut

The news isn't so good for those Virginia war babies who need a baby carriage right now. The War Production Board has cut the number of baby carriages to be made in the current quarter to 289,369, compared to the original schedule of 317,777. The schedule has been amended to bring quotas more in line with what the plants can actually manufacture. However, WFB still aims toward a production of 900,000 baby carriages in 1943. Because of the small amount of metal needed in their manufacture, WFB has stepped up the current quotas of strollers, walkers and sulky's from 100,500 to 233,500.

Spider Silk For Stockings
STATE COLLEGE, Pa. — A pair of silk stockings could be made of spider web, but would require about 24,000 feet of fiber. The cost would be prohibitive and probably there is no machinery adapted to making spider silk stockings. But the quality would be surprisingly good.

Spider silk is considered extremely strong. When stretched it assumes its original shape, an advantage for stockings. A woven square inch is calculated to have sufficient strength to support a weight of 90,000 pounds. These calculations are from Dr. Stuart W. Frost, professor of economic entomology at the Pennsylvania State College, in a recent pointing out how insects are of use in the war.

Spider silk is used for the cross-bars or lines of the climbing frame, and in many other parts of various types.

Fresh fish makes a good morning dish. It is a source of highly digestible protein, has a good store of phosphorus and some calcium.

BAD DAY AND SWELLING WITH NURSING

Sunday and Monday, Chester Morris, Richard Arlen and Jim Lydon will be starred in "AERIAL GUNNER." This stirring salute to our fighting men in the sky is backed by the U. S. Army Air Corps. Chester Morris and Richard Arlen are two of the hard-fighting, sharpshooting gunners in the film. The romantic interest is Lita Ward, but the boys' real loves are the bombers they defend.

"Aerial Gunner" is the first full length screenplay based upon the life and experiences of America's aerial gunners, defenders of the tails of our bombers.

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday there will be a double feature: "NIGHT FOR CRIME" and also, "LAW OF THE SADOLE."

Theater Previews

"THE YOUNGEST FROPSION" will open at the Bayne Theatre Friday, August 20th and the 21st. This is an all star cast consisting of Virginia Wilder, Edward Arnold, John Carroll and Guest Stars. The story concerns teen-age autograph hunters, in their quest of famous movie star signatures such as Greer Garson, Walter Pidgeon and Robert Taylor. Their imagination works overtime when Agnes Moorehead meddles in the affairs of the family to result in hilarious situations. Virginia gets the thrill of a lifetime when she meets such glamorous stars as Greer Garson, Walter Pidgeon, Lana Turner, William Powell and Robert Taylor and becomes involved in the marital complications of her parents, which exist only in her mind. Starring in the cast are Edward Arnold, Marta Linden, Ann Ayars, John Carroll and Dick Simmons.

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday Paramount's great technicolor musical with 12 great song hits will be the attraction. Dorothy Lamour and Bing Crosby, supported by Marjorie Reynolds and Lynn Overman, will be starred in this feature, "DIXIE."

The movie tell the story of the formation of the Virginia Minstrels by Bing, as Dan Emmett.

With Billy de Wolfe, Lynne Overman and Eddie Foy, Jr., rounding out the original quartette that subsequently grew to a minstrel troupe of forty—count 'em, forty—men. New Orleans, the scene of their first triumph, is where Bing meets Dorothy Lamour who is co-starred with him in the film. Dottie plays the part of Millie Cook, unsympathetic landlady of a boarding house for deadbeat actors. Of course, it's difficult to be unsympathetic to Bing for very long and in spite of the fact that when she meets him, he's another out-of-work boarder, Dottie falls for him and vice-versa.

However, there's another girl in Bing's life—Marjorie Reynolds, his sweetheart of "Holiday Inn."

The romance that evolves is played to the tune of six old hits and six new contenders for the Hit Parade—"Sun," Monday or Always," "If You Please," "She's From Missouri," "A Horse That Knows the Way Back Home," "Kind's Peculiar Brown" and "Laughing Tony" all of them written by Johnny Burke and James Van Heusen.

From all accounts, "Dixie," which is Bing's first picture in Technicolor, is a musical that ought to provide a very pleasant respite to those smart enough to take advantage of it.

"HIT THE ICE" with Abbott and Costello, Gino Simms, Patrick Knowles and Elyse Knowles will come to the Bayne Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The music furnished by Johnny Long whom old Virginia Beach residents will remember played at the Cavalier Beach Club for several seasons. Producer Gottlieb permitted Johnny to use his own name throughout the picture.

The story of "Hit the Ice," described as action-loaded, reveals Bud and Lou as candid camera photographers who find themselves implicated in a bank robbery. Possessing negative which identify the robbers, the boys are chased by the crooks and eventually captured in a mountain resort hideout. This is where much of the exciting fun-action is enacted and the ultimate "table-turning" is said to be photographically spectacular as well as comical.

For the Roland Theater, a double feature will be presented on Friday and Saturday, the 26th and 27th. "GILDERSLEEVES" LEARNING JAP LANGUAGE Office Candidate schools have a reputation for being tough, but the Naval Intelligence Japanese Language school at Boulder, Colo., sets a new record. Hand-picked candidates from colleges and graduate schools pore over Japanese "Kanji" (word pictures) 16 hours a day, 6 days a week, for 14 months.

These 800 students are given intensive high pressure instruction in classes of only five men each. The faculty consists of 150 Japanese-Americans, former professional and business men, recruited from the East and West coast Japanese colonies. The course is intensive, and the students are given no job except the principal one of learning the difficult Japanese language. Unlike other officer candidates, they have no guard duty. KP, or night bivouacs. Their job is to learn Japanese, learn it quickly, and learn it well. —Gloucester ceilings on Used Trucks Used truck dealers have wider margins for vehicles sold with warranty, under a new price regulation (Revised MPR #31), effective August 16, Mr. Hudgins announced.

The new regulation brings ceilings on used trucks more nearly into line with values for better-than-average vehicles, he said. Simplified methods of computing transportation allowances are also provided.

A new feature of the regulation prescribes a method of checking sales. Dealers and individuals making used truck sales will be required to complete a certification of transfers, which must be filed with the local War Price and Stationing board. The effective date of this provision will not be until September 15.

"Interim Ceilings" Establishment of "Interim ceilings" for distribution yard sales of softwood lumber in Florida and the other southern states was announced recently by Mr. Hudgins.

The "Interim ceilings," like those issued for most parts of the country, are in the form of uniform area-wide specific mark-ups which may be added to mill prices by yards to determine wholesale and retail distribution yard prices. They are transitional prices for use until final dollars and cents maximums for each area are created.

USO Camp Shows will receive 15 per cent of the budget, Mr. Kelly said. This branch of the USO operations conducts the largest theatrical circuit in the history of American show business, with 81 troupes now on the road, performing at army posts, naval stations, and even before men on duty at detached outposts all over this country. USO Camp Shows, along among USO services, operate in the Eastern as well as the Western Hemisphere. Its performers entertain the troops in the combat areas overseas.

The USO Overseas Dept. now has 153 operations in the Western Hemisphere outside of continental United States, and this service is expected to continue to expand rapidly according to Mr. Kelly. These operations are assigned by the War Department.

FEWER NEW TIRES

Smaller quotas of new passenger car tires for August and larger quotas of used and recapped tires have been announced by OPA, based on rationing allotments assigned for the month by the Office of Rubber Director. The August quota of Grade I tires is the lowest since last April 1. CPA officials warned that drivers who are eligible for new tires may have to accept used or recapped types as long as the quota of new tires is low.

The first public demonstration of a parachute jump was made on October 22, 1979.

O. P. A. RE-CAPS

Dealers who have A-7, "B" or "C" coupons received from motorists at a unit value of four gallons before August 16 must have them in to their suppliers or exchange them at the rationing board for inventory coupons by midnight August 21. William Hudgins, chairman of the Prince-County War Price and Rationing board, announced today.

They must segregate those coupons and affix them to gummed sheets to which no other coupons are attached and must summarize the coupons on Form R-541, listing no other coupons on this form, he said.

The dealer may either forward the coupons, together with the form and signed certification to his supplier who may honor them at four-gallon value up to midnight August 21, or he may exchange them at the rationing board for inventory coupons by the same date.

"Is it true, what they say about War Bonds?"

THEY SAY — "Hey, Bill, I heard that in order to pay for the fighting equipment our boys need, each of us should be putting at least 10 percent of our pay into War Bonds."

THEY SAY — "That's a sweet investment, I'd say! And when you lend dough to Uncle Sam, you know he'll make good on his I O U!"

IT'S TRUE — "That makes sense to me, Joe. Those things cost plenty of dough. After all, one dime out of every buck is a darn cheap price to pay for freedom!"

THEY SAY — "We're not really paying that money to the Government, either. It's just a loan to Uncle Sam, as I see it."

IT'S TRUE — "Sure. You get it back — with interest. Every 3 bucks you put in brings you 4!"

PAYING war jobs!"

WOMANPOWER is war power! The shortage of workers, not only in war production plants, but in hundreds of necessary civilian services, is one of our foremost problems!

OWI says "If we are to win the war and win it more quickly, we must find a way to get 6,000,000 more women to take paying war jobs." The OWI makes it clear that only one out of four are needed for work in war plants. The other three are needed to man civilian enterprise necessary to keep community life smoothly running. "Women are needed to clerk in stores, to work in laundries, to drive trucks and buses, to work as waitresses. There are more than 60,000 women needed for teaching jobs and another 180,000 are needed for transportation. Add to this the hundreds of thousands that will be needed to work the land and you get an idea of the immensity of the job ahead."

Old type "B" and "C" coupons become invalid September 1, and gasoline dealers cannot accept them on and after that date. The old type coupons are identified by the words "Permits delivery of one unit of gasoline." The new type says "Mileage Rating," plus a large "B" or "C".

The Virginia Beach Lions Club will celebrate the tenth anniversary of its founding at a dance to be held Thursday evening, September 2, in the MacArthur Ball Room, Seaside Park. The proceeds from the dance will go to help with the work among the blind done by the club. Tickets and reservations may be had at Johnson's Grill in the Payne Theater building, and also at Brown's Esso Station at 31st Street. This dance on September 2 will be the first charity affair given by the Club this season and Bill Johnson, president, and Robert Green, committee chairman, announced that ticket sales are progressing rapidly and that reservations should be made as early as possible.

Local Club Ten Years Old.

The local club was founded just ten years ago this month, at which time twenty-one business and professional men became members of the Lions International.

Today the club is active in civic affairs of the community and during its period of existence has sponsored many noteworthy projects. For several years previous to the war it sponsored the community Christmas tree where small gifts were given to the children of the town and everyone joined in singing Christmas carols. It has during the past ten years furnished medical inspection and glasses for needy children of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne. It headed a most successful scrap "drive" at which almost three hundred thousand pounds of scrap was collected. It has contributed generously to the Tidewater Tuberular hospital, the Red Cross, Boy Scouts, State School for the Blind, Staunton, Virginia, the Lions International "Bomber" fund and many other worthwhile projects.

Five Charter Members Active.

Of the original charter members who are still active in Lions-ism are Colonel M. Earl Woodhouse (member-at-large), Sam S. Shapp, local hardware dealer, Reginold W. Whitehurst, Norfolk and Western railroad, F. G. Morrison (member-at-large in U. S. Navy), and Benjamin B. Bland, present District Governor of 24-V.

It has at the present approximately one-third of its total membership enlisted in the armed forces of the United States and the remaining members are engaged in some defense project. Those actively engaged and members of the service Honor Roll are: Lieut. Lonnie Meacham, USMC; Bud Morrison, U. S. Navy; Bill Kelam, U. S. Army; Albert Newbern, U. S. Navy; Bill Jarvis, U. S. Army; Frank Woodhouse, U. S. Army; Murray Malbon, U. S. Navy, C. P. O.; Eddie Hall, U. S. Navy and Colonel M. Earl Woodhouse, Judge Advocate U. S. Army.

Remodeled London Bridge Baptist church, one of the oldest Baptist churches in Virginia, was dedicated August 30, 1925.

Work on the new home of W. T. Jarvis was begun at the corner of Baltic and 16th Street.

The present home of Mr. Jarvis on 17th and Holly Avenue will be converted into an office building.

Cape Henry—Virginia Beach Boulevard was opened for traffic.

John Sparrow was recommended by citizens of Virginia Beach to receive the Carnegie Medal for bravery due to the many lives he saved from drowning.

Surviving sons by his first wife are Edward Henry Herbert, Jr., Monroe C. Herbert, both of Norfolk, and Abner T. Herbert, U. S. Army Air Forces.

Four daughters by his first wife also survive.

They are Mrs. Virginia Herbert Nye, Mrs. Elizabeth Herbert Pender and Mrs. Dorothy Herbert Pearson, all of Norfolk, and Mrs. Maude Herbert Conway of Richmond.

Mr. Herbert was a member of Ruth Lodge, A. F. & A. M., and Kneadie Temple, A. A. O. N. M. S. Norfolk.

He was a member and vestryman of Old Donation church, Princess Anne county, where he was still superintendent of the Sunday school at the time of his death.

He was well known and loved by his fellow officials and workers.

Colonel Borland, Norfolk City manager, summed up the feeling at City Hall when he said: "I not only have lost one of my closest and best personal friends, but the city has lost one of its most valuable and faithful public servants. I have known Ned Hebert all my life and everyone who knew him loved him. It will be difficult ever to replace him, no matter how well his successor may perform the duties of this extremely important and difficult position."

VIRGINIA BEACH LIONS CLUB
The Virginia Beach Lions Club has passed a mile stone. Ten years of creditable activity in the community and outstanding civic achievement in its charity work make the local chapter one of which Lions International has just cause to be proud. With five charter members still active and approximately one third of its members serving in the armed forces and the entire local club interested in volunteer defense work of some kind, the Virginia Beach Lions Club is carrying out its war effort on every front.

NOT REST, BUT STRUGGLE
Our success in North Africa, the onward rush of our army in Sicily, the fall of Mussolini, and our continued offensive against the Japanese in the Pacific, make encouraging news for the American people. Everyone gladly accepts the reality of military victory. The danger is that we shall be disposed to regard the war as practically won and proceed to relax our efforts and our diligence in behalf of its vigorous prosecution. It is not won. It is far from won. The Nazis are still strong. In particular, their air force of late has not been utilized in the full strength that it yet possesses. Europe is a fortified continent. To invade it will demand the loss of much life. The problem of supplying our overseas troops will continue for many days to come. Any misstep, any lack of vigilance may cost us heavily and needlessly prolong the war. At the same time, we have the war to carry on in the Pacific against the Japanese.

All of the problems involved in the West also present themselves to us in the East. Ambassador Grew, who knows very well the nature and strength of our foe in the Pacific, has warned us that much hard fighting remains to be done there before we can win the victory. We do not doubt but that we shall win this war on all fronts, but we shall do it only because the faith and courage of our civilian population matches and supports the faith and courage of our fighting men. They depend upon us far more than we sometimes think—for supplies of all kinds, for money to finance the war, for keeping production of war materials at a high level—and for encouragement that is born of our own strong and stirring morale. No one in America can rest. No one can relax his efforts for victory, nor become complacent. We are winning, but we have not yet won.

URGES CUT IN LABOR DAY TRAVEL

Stay off trains and inter-city buses over Labor Day weekend. This is the plea of Joseph B. Eastman, director of the Office of Defense Transportation. Mr. Eastman, in asking the public to spend Labor Day weekend at home, said that failure to follow this advice might result in travel congestion worse than that experienced over the Fourth of July weekend.

Mr. Eastman pointed out that transportation equipment formerly available for holiday travel is now in less service or used to transport the greatly expanded military, medical and other traffic.

NATIONAL NEWS OF NOTE

THE WINNING OF THE WAR

J. E. Jones

Washington, D. C., August 1. — David Lloyd George of England said, in 1917: "This war, like the next war, is a war to end war." His prophecy proved to be better than that of Woodrow Wilson who in a message to Congress declared: "This is the culminating and final war for human liberty." The beliefs expressed by our present partners in Britain, Russia, China and elsewhere, often conflict as badly as the views of those of Lloyd George and Woodrow Wilson.

There is a general agreement in Washington that Italy and Germany are already whipped but the questions involved in "unconditional surrender" and the defeat of the great Axis Nations are voiced in confused opinions and predictions by men who control the destinies of our own, and other governments. Some have hopes of the war ending this year, but Secretary of the Navy Knox has not revised the prediction he made a few weeks ago that some of the wars—perhaps the one in the Pacific—will last 'till 1949.

There is a little more steadiness of action on the Home Front this month. A fifty-page report on the food situation was filed with the Secretary of Agriculture, Claude R. Wickard, a few days ago and the report vigorously assailed the failure to establish a world-wide food program. It is no news to anyone—from housewives to Generals and Admirals—that the food program has been in a state of confusion. Nevertheless the situation has improved, simply because the administrators of food have learned a lot by bitter experiences. There is also encouraging evidence of more practical rationing of other necessities—including gasoline and oil.

Manpower Chief McNutt's reasons for drafting fathers are disputed by industrial leaders who insist that the shortage of labor in defense plants is practically non-existent. There is no serious drop in war production, but most of the troubles have concerned a shortage of some raw materials, and difficulties about allocations. The incentive in favor of thrift and national economy will be recognized, shortly.

There is no positive indication at the present time that even our esteemed leaders, Roosevelt and Churchill, entertain the same views about the final disposition of colonies and territories, regardless of the Atlantic Charter.

Leaders of the armed forces on land, sea and air, come closer to thinking alike than all others—those men not only expect peace in Berlin, but they also expect to cut Germany into small pieces, and thereby prevent another world war. How about the Japs? Well, the papers a few days ago contained the news that Allied planes blasted 170 Japanese aircraft on August 17. That is a good beginning of the end of the yellow peril.

AUTO INDUSTRY COMES THROUGH

The ability of the automobile industry to take the lead in the mass production of the heavier implements of war was an accepted and foregone conclusion even prior to Pearl Harbor and the faith of the public and the production heads of the government was not misplaced. Perhaps some of us expected too much but it is quite evident that the Axis underestimated its ability to convert its facilities from automobile production to that of the needs of an army 10,000,000 strong.

More or less expected the industry to turn out tanks, shells, bombs, guns and planes. We hoped its experiences would be invaluable in organizing assembly line methods of producing many of the implements of war. We thoughtlessly, however, restricted its versatility to turning out only the heavy materials such as armor plate, gun breeches, trucks and the like.

But there are daily stories from the centers of war production telling of amazing accomplishments by the former automobile builders. For example, there comes to hand today an article from Detroit telling of a new contract received by one of the units of the Fisher Body Division of General Motors to build thousands of remote reading magnetic compass indicators and transmitters. The aircraft instrument is a very delicate one requiring the finest precision work. The contract was awarded as a result of an outstanding job done on two similar instruments, the announcement states.

The manufacture of these instruments was an entirely new type of work for the former body builders but records of production indicate its versatility and ability to assume the difficult job. The conclusion of the war will bring to light countless other accomplishments by this vital industry in fields entirely foreign to it.

All industry is doing its job well and to it we all owe a lot. But the automobile industry is really the core of the home front.

PASSING THE POINTS

Leon Henderson was the creator of point rationing. The first public reaction to the scheme was directed against Henderson, and when he passed from the scene into comparative obscurity no one mourned over his departure. His system has also turned out to be a "passing" custom inasmuch as friends and neighbors "pass the points" around to their friends, and exchange red points for blue, and swap coffee points for sugar points, and sugar points for shoe points. Some people even take a chance with their gasoline points. The administration has had nothing but trouble in its efforts to convince the American public that the ration system is successful, or can be made successful.

BOOTLEGGERS ARE OPERATING

The amount of liquor withdrawn from warehouses for sale to the public is only 55 per cent of last year, while there is every evidence that the amount of liquor consumed is more than last year. Washington authorities have been trailing suspects who have been "cleaning" industrial alcohol and furnishing what is apparently a "safe, good drink." The retail price of legitimate beverage alcohol is $3 a gallon, but the bootlegger alcohol can be concocted and bottled at $1 a gallon. The temptation is too great, and the crooks are again gaining headway over enforcement officials.

WAR BOND ADVERTISING

Powerful Senator John H. Bankhead of Alabama takes a strong position in favor of government-paid advertising for the sale of war bonds. In a recent speech he argued before the Alabama Press Association that the government could well afford to spend money in the leading weeklies and local dailies because it would bring to the Treasury hundreds of millions of dollars. He argued convincingly that the expenditures for this class of advertising would be a practical investment for the government, and derided the objection that this would be a "subsidy" of the newspapers.

THE GRAB BASKET

An OPA labor group attacks Secretary Ikes and charges that he is aiding oil companies in an attempt "to put over a $1,250,000,000 steal" on consumers through a proposed rise of 35 cents a barrel on the price of crude oil. Mr. Ikes has a lot of faults, but no one ever accused him of stealing. He does change his mind too often. Almost simultaneously with the accusation against Ikes was a blast from the Secretary accusing power interests in the far west of trying to make a huge steal. "Steal" is a very naughty word and men in public life shouldn't be free to use it.

NO SALES TAX

There isn't any probability of a sales tax because tax plans have all been changed, and now even the "sales tax" is just "another tax." Taxpayers who want "another tax" can't be found.

NEGOTIATIONS

The legislative machinery seems to be set against reparation of war contracts after taxes. That would be a disaster to firms engaged in war production. All concessions seem to "out of the window."

IT GREW LIKE A SNOWBALL

There are 3,000,000 civilian employees on the Federal pay roll, which is a pretty high percentage of the inhabitants of the United States. Thirty thousand government workers employed in war work are herded into the Pentagon building—and they are still crowding in the mammoth structure apparently oblivious to the possibilities of the Pentagon's sides bursting-out. According to the dictionary "pentagon" is a polygon having five angles and therefore five sides." But in Washington the average citizen speaks of it as the "biggest building you ever saw." In fact it is so big there wasn't room for it in the District of Columbia so they built it in Virginia on the other side of the Potomac.

The MIGHTY Pulse

Here is a picture of rural America . . . at peace . . . where pride is strong . . . religion is deep . . . freedom is bright . . . here, the mighty pulse of the nation beats calmly.

Today, rural America is at war . . . its mighty pulse is beating faster, stronger . . . as soldiers of the soil are growing and harvesting an ever mounting volume of food from this good earth of unparalleled diversity . . . food for our millions of fighting men and our fighting Allies . . . food for our millions of war workers and civilians . . . food for starved, enslaved nations . . . food that is giving the liberty loving people of the world the strength and endurance to smash on against the enemy.

The American railroads are moving approximately 30,000,000 pounds of food a day for our fighting men. They are moving a thousand carloads of food a day for our Allies. And they are moving the great bulk of the products from the farms and processing plants which feed the 126,000,000 of us here at home.

The Norfolk and Western Railway traverses a great cross section of rural America's rich agricultural storehouse. Throughout this fertile and bountiful region, soldiers of the soil are producing as never before. The Norfolk and Western serves them . . . with pride . . . for the fruits of their labor is a mighty weapon . . . food for Victory and Freedom.

The rural homeowner is personally responsible for the safety of the water supply used by his household. In this respect he is under a greater handicap than the city man in as much as the local health department is more or less responsible to see that the water supply is kept pure. There are steps for the rural dweller to take to safeguard the health of his family in providing pure water for their use. More and more people in rural communities are taking advantage of the opportunity to have water tested by the State Health Department and are sending samples to the central and district laboratories.

Unfortunately it is more than just collecting a sample in any kind of clean container and shipping or taking it to the laboratory. These are the rules which must be adhered to if a true test is expected. Boil the container before collecting the sample and be sure to sterilize the spigot or spout from which the water is collected. To do this use a blowtorch or a piece of burning cotton soaked in alcohol, or roll several pieces of newspaper tightly and burn. It is also necessary that the fingers do not come in contact with the inside of the container or any portion of the contact with the inside of the stopper.

If the resident of a community maintaining a health department will communicate with it, a sanit ation officer will visit the prop erty and make necessary recom mendations. Those persons resid ing in a county lacking a local health department should write to the State Health Department in Richmond, and give a description of the supply.

This is a service for which the county is paying and one that is gladly rendered by all local health departments for the next two
